TWO DIE IN SING SING CHAIR.

Champlain and Supe Pay the Death Penalty for Murders.

OSSINING, N. Y., June 3.—Roy Champlain and Giovanni Supe were put to death in Sing Sing yesterday morning, the former for the murder of his uncle in Wellsville, the latter for the murder of Frederick Battisto in Westbury.

Dr. Arthur A. Waite, the poisoner heard the men led to their death, but was unconcerned, while Oreste Shill-ton, the "Paper Box Kid," awaiting death for the murder of John Rizzo and Policemen Hoeney and Tene in this city in 1913, lost his nerve completely.

He smashed his porcelain washbasin with a stool, beat against the bars of his cell and made the prison ring with hideous cries. Principal Keeper Frederick Dwyer, with Keepers Bullard and Nichols finally overpowered him while Dr. A. O. Squires administered a drug which quieted the half-crazed man.

THE LONG TRAIL.

Green Mountain Club Hopes to Complete It This Year.

The executive committee of the Green Mountain club has appointed a special committee with Theron S. Dean as chairman to raise sufficient funds to make possible the completion of the Long Trail from Massachusetts to Canada during the year 1916. The committee felt that the greatly increasing use by Vermonters and by people from other states of the parts of the trail already made show that the interests of the state require the immediate completion of a project which means the opening up of a scenic resource of Vermont to all mountain lovers.

The Long Trail is a unique Vermont institution which has attracted wide interest and promises great increase of Vermont's business as a vacation state both in summer and in winter. A trail from one end of the state to the other along the Green Mountain range, properly equipped with camps and shelters is a necessity, if Vermont is to play her part in state hospitality and thus to capitalize the asset which has given the state her name as the Green Mountain state.

The executive committee of the Green Mountain club has appointed the following chairmen of the standing committees of the club: Austin F. Hawes, chairman of the trails committee; Dr. L. J. Paris, chairman of the membership committee; James F. Taylor, chairman of the publicity committee.

R. G. ESTEE MISSING.

Son of Former Mayor of Montpelier May Have Been Drowned.

MONTPELIER, June 3.—Rush G. Estee, 30 years old, son of ex-Mayor and Mrs. James B. Estee of Montpelier, New York stock exchange member of the brokerage firm of R. G. Estee & Co., who has been on a pleasure cruise on the Great Lakes, mysteriously disappeared last Wednesday night from the pleasure yacht Rambler at Duluth, Minn., and the police at that city have been unable to secure a clue as to his whereabouts other than that he left his boat, Kenneth P. Van Riper, that evening with the evident intention of being absent but a short time. It is feared that he fell into the lake and was drowned. Mr. Estee graduated from Columbia university in 1908 and has been a member of the New York stock exchange the past three years.

HEAVY LOSSES IN NAVAL BATTLE

the battle. It is not considered probable that the shipwrecked British and German sailors will be interned in Holland, as they have promised not to attempt to escape.

BERLIN, wireless from staff correspondent of the Associated Press, via Sayville, L. I., June 3.—The first naval battle on a grand scale during the present war has been attended by results which, according to the information received here, are highly satisfactory to Germany, not only in respect of the comparative losses of the two fleets, but in the fact that the Germans maintained the field after the battle. This is shown, Germany commentators assert, by the rescue of British survivors. The full German high sea fleet was engaged. The British fleet is now estimated at approximately twice as strong in guns and ships as the German fleet. The main engagement apparently occurred about 125 miles southwest of the southern extremity of Norway and 150 miles off the Danish coast.

The battle was divided into two sections. The day's engagement began at about 4 o'clock in the afternoon and continued until darkness, or about 9 o'clock.

This was followed by a series of separate engagements throughout the night. It is assumed the ranges of the day's engagement were not extreme, possibly at a distance of about eight miles, as the weather was hazy. The German torpedo boats and destroyers were more effective than the British, accounting in a considerable extent to the success of the Germans against an overwhelmingly superior force.

It is understood that the Queen Mary and Indefatigable were both sunk in the day's battle. It has not been learned when the Warspite and other British warships went down. (The loss of Warspite is denied officially by the British.) All the German warships except those mentioned in the official report reached Wilhelmshaven safely. Germany's personnel and material alike stood the test brilliantly and the damage sustained by the German fleet is small in comparison to the British losses.

YMUUDEN, Holland, via London, June 3.—Three officers, three petty officers and 12 sailors of the crew of the new small German cruiser Elbing, which was lost in the Jutland battle, have been landed here. One officer said that the Elbing sank after she was rammed by another German vessel, which rescued the remainder of her crew. Another maintained that the Elbing was blown up by the heavy firing of her own big guns. One of the Elbing's boats, containing some of her crew and some British officers who were picked up by the trawler Bertha, are being brought here. The loss of the Elbing is not mentioned in either British or German official accounts of the battle, but the British admiralty statement says that a "light German cruiser" was sunk. The Elbing does not appear in the available naval list.

These details of the sinking of the German cruiser Elbing were learned here today from the Dutch crews, German sailors and the Dutch military commander of Ymuuden, who spoke to three of the German cruiser's officers. The Elbing was a new and fast cruiser of about 4,000 or 5,000 tons and carried a crew of 450. The British gunfire caused the destruction of the ship, Capt. Madling, who was among the three officers saved, decided to have the valve opened and allow the vessel to sink. Before the Elbing went down the bulk of the crew was taken over by the German torpedo boats.

IMPURE MILK KILLS TWO.

Forty Others in Watertown, Mass., Are Seriously Ill.

BOSTON, June 3.—Two Watertown residents, Mrs. Thomas Nally of Boyd street and Thomas F. Chambers, 30, of 68 Pearl street, are dead from drinking impure milk, and 40 other Watertown people are seriously ill from the same cause.

The Watertown health officials say they have traced the trouble to one cow in the herd of a local milkman, who is not held in the least responsible. The cow was afflicted with a growth which was not visible to the milkman, but which affected the quality of the milk.

It was on Sunday that the milk trouble was first noticed, and prompt action was taken. The cow to which the impure milk was traced has not been milked since that day. It was taken to a bacteriological station yesterday and will be slaughtered and examined today.

Many of those made ill by the milk obtained it in milk shakes from a drug store in Watertown. It was there that Chambers got his fatal draft of the liquid, and his brother, Henry, who was with him at the time, was taken ill also, and is now in a serious condition.

Coffee was first roasted in England in 1652 by a Greek servant brought home by a Mr. Edwards, a trader in Turkey, although the beverage had been used to a slight extent in the British Isles as early as 1637.

Brattleboro Vermont

A Conscientious Citizen.

(Bennington Banner.)

As far as has been noticed, one F. E. Perry of Brattleboro has not yet announced his candidacy for re-election to the state legislature. Nor does any intimation come from Brattleboro that there is a unanimous wish for him to again represent (?) that town at Montpelier. Probably Brattleboro has learned the lesson that a good many towns, by the way, have still to learn, that it is just as well to look beyond the ends of their noses and make inquiry: Does the representative really represent the spirit and the public sentiment of the community? — Rutland News.

The Banner will hardly be accused of being a partisan of Mr. Perry in his principal legislative activity, but knowing his honesty and sincerity were we a citizen of Brattleboro, we should a thousand times rather support Mr. Perry for representative than take a chance on untried timber of doubtful value. As a citizen and as a man Brattleboro has few that rank higher than Mr. Perry. He had a right to believe in prohibition and to ask that the state vote again on the issue. While we do not agree with him on this issue, we have had the courage of his convictions and in the legislature there was none who impressed fellow members more forcibly as an honorable man who was seeking to do right as he believed and was convinced. No man can represent the spirit and public sentiment of a community on all occasions for the reason that all communities are more or less divided on public issues. It is far better to support and elect a man of honor and devotion to state and community welfare even if we disagree with him on some vital questions than to further the political fortunes of some trimmer who blows with every breeze and who always has his ear to the ground to catch the rumble of public clamor in order to avoid taking an open stand dictated by judgment and commonsense.

The Voice of Vermont.
(Boston Transcript.)

Vermont Republicans have joined hands with their Oregon brethren in sending to the Chicago convention a delegation instructed for Hughes. The resolution of the Montpelier convention urging his nomination rings with enthusiasm. The delegates are called upon "by their personal efforts and by their votes" to "support him with the full strength of the State." "His unblemished record, his wide experience, his forceful character and his great intellect" are cited as qualifications that "combine to make him the master hand to navigate the ship of state across the uncharted shoals that are ahead." Here is the clear call for the conscription of Mr. Hughes, which comes from the people through their chosen representatives. It is a call that the Chicago convention would be foolhardy not to extend. It is a call that Justice Hughes dare not decline.

Vermont led the way for New England and the nation twenty years ago when the State convention instructed its delegation for McKinley in the face of the plan of Vermont senators and congressmen that Thomas R. Reed of Maine be adopted as Vermont's favorite son. The Republicans of the Green Mountain state in refusing in 1916 to waste their time in compliments to any local candidate, again demonstrate by their endorsement of a national favorite for the presidency the foresight, the judgment and the freedom from localism which are essential to true nationalism. It will be a misfortune if the Republicans of Massachusetts are not represented at Chicago by a delegation equally farsighted and equally fearless.

BIRTHS.

In Brattleboro, June 1, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Davenport.

DEATHS.

In South Hadley, Mass., June 2, Rev. Frank Grimes, 82, formerly of Windham.

Switzerland spends more on relief of poor than does any other country.

Slight Mistake.

In Kansas City they tell of a broker who moved from the city out into the country. He went out some distance and, since the railroad was poverty-stricken and the service consequently poor, he traveled to and from town by automobile.

After a time he decided to go in for chicken raising and ordered a patent chicken coop. On the day it was expected to arrive he set out in a dray to fetch it from the freight office. He reached the railway station—which, by the way, he had never seen—after an hour's drive.

No one was in sight, but there was his chicken coop. With his man's assistance he soon had it on the dray and set off for home. He had proceeded but a few rods, however, when he encountered a man in uniform, with the title "Station Master" on his cap.

"What have you got on that dray?" demanded the station master, excitedly.

"My new chicken coop,"

"Chicken coop, nothing. You're carrying off Blankville Junction."
